

GIFT PLANNING

Your public library is one of your community's most trusted and treasured institutions.

What better way to secure its future than making a planned gift to your library.

Planned gifts can mean making a gift today, or planning now to make a gift in the future.

Gift planning is the best way to ensure your library benefits from your generosity, while you achieve your personal, financial and philanthropic goals.

Thank you to the volunteers and staff from Branford and Burlington Public Libraries for their help with this brochure.

SUPPORTING YOUR WISHES

Making a planned gift will benefit and support your wishes. These could include special programs and services, support for branch libraries, capital projects, endowments, or you can designate gifts to two or more areas.

Your giving options include:

- wills and bequests
- memorial and celebration gifts
- annuities
- life insurance
- trusts
- gifts of property or securities

YES, I am interested in further information on making a lasting gift to my library.

I want my public library to know that I intend to include them in my will.

I want my public library to know that I've already included them in my will.
